Redwood Parks Conservancy Welcomes New Executive Director

CRESCENT CITY, CA - The Board of Directors of the Redwood Parks Conservancy (RPC) invites the community to join them in welcoming Mr. Scott Larson as their new executive director. Mr. Larson brings with him his collaborative leadership style and strong executive skills.

After an extensive nationwide search, Mr. Larson was selected to lead RPC's efforts to promote and support its public lands partners: Redwood National and State Parks and the U.S. Forest Service in Del Norte and Humboldt counties. "Redwood National and State Parks is looking forward to working with Mr. Larson and Redwood Parks Conservancy as we usher in a new era of showcasing the incredible stories of forest restoration, condor reintroduction, and cultural connections that all take place under the canopy of these magnificent redwood trees". – Redwood National and State Parks Deputy Superintendent Erin Gates.

Mr. Larson has a long history in public service centered around advanced public policy and administration, and governmental relations. He has worked on establishing public policy as it related to the finance and healthcare services sectors where he developed public policy, community outreach programs, governmental relations, finance, operations, and strategic planning with several large non-profit organizations. All the while continuing his involvement with community boards and agencies.

Mr. Larson recently retired from the Children's Orthopedic & Sports Medicine Center, Center for Rehabilitation Services, Stanford Children's Health, Youth Athlete's Academy as Executive Director after 28 years in healthcare. Along with his family, Mr. Larson is moving to Brookings, Oregon from the Bay Area and is looking forward to spending more time with his father, brother, and extended family.

Mr. Larson grew up vacationing in the redwoods with his family and is excited to be back among the redwoods helping to preserve and promote this beautiful resource.

Mr. Larson has an MPA from Columbia University, a BA in Political Science from the University of California, Berkeley, a certificate on Mastering Innovation from the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, and is Lean Six Sigma Yellow Belt Certified.
